Senate Group Wants Employe Security Probe

Unanimously Approves Thorough Bi-Partisan Study

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—A Senate committee voted unanimously today for a thorough, bi-partisan study of the Eisenhower administration's employe security program. Meanwhile a hot dispute flared before another committee over the program's operations.

Wendell S. Barnes, head of the Small Business Administration, said two ousted SBA security investigators "mocked the truth" in their testimony blasting the SBA security program as grossly unfair.

One of the former investigators, Louis J. Lyell, said his reports on employe investigations had been falsified deliberately by higher officials to make out stronger cases against employes.

Lyell and Clarence E. Clarke, the other former investigator, charged many employes were forced out of their jobs unjustly. Lyell said the program was conducted with "total disregard" for the rights of individuals.

Barnes, Lyell and Clarke gave their sharply conflicting testimony to a Senate Civil Service subcommittee which has been investigating the program for weeks.

At the same time the Senate Government Operations Committee unanimously approved a resolution to create a 12-man commission to study and report on all aspects of the security program by Dec. 31, 1956.

The resolution still must pass the House and Senate before it can take effect. Four members of the proposed commission would be named by President Eisenhower on a nonpartisan basis, four by Vice President Nixon and four by House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex). Chairman McCellan (D-Ark) said the committee changed the deadline for the report from mid-1956, as first proposed, to the later date so as to avoid any chance the report might become involved in partisan politics in next year's con-

2 Dead, 5 Hurt In Charleston Waterfront Fire

CHARLESTON, S.C., June 17—UP—A $4 million fire swept the historic waterfront here Friday and at least two persons were reported killed. One of the dead was a policeman on a rescue mission who called headquarters from a flaming warehouse and said "for God's sake, come get us."

Five persons were injured and dozens of firemen temporarily felled by smoke.

The vice president of the Charleston Tidewater Terminal, which was destroyed, also was reported burned to death. The official Lew Henninger, had gone into the burning office to save the records and patrolman Lawrence Aytes went in to bring him out.

Both men found themselves trapped. Aytes found a telephone still working and called headquarters with his despairing plea. His last words were "We're trapped in here."

Fellow officers and firemen were unable to enter the building which had become a holocaust. Nothing further was seen or heard from the two missing men.

Destroyed were three connected piers and three warehouses of the Tidewater Terminal. Unofficial estimates placed the loss at $1 million to the buildings and $3 million to the goods in storage and on the wharves.

The original fire multiplied into seven or eight blazes as the wind whirled sparks through the 200-year-old docks area. But all were reported brought under control at mid-afternoon after three hours of heroic fire-fighting.

The building housing the South Carolina Ports Authority caught fire but was saved with little damage. Flying sparks started a fire in the steeple of 200-year-old St. Michael's Episcopal Church but it was put out quickly.

Fire ate through the terminal warehouses as if they were "pieces of paper," witnesses reported.

The entire pier area at the terminal was destroyed except for a railroad siding with three box cars on it. The piers were 600 feet long.

Dixon-Yates Controversy Shifts Back To Senate; Memphis Fighting Plan

WASHINGTON, June 17 —UP— The city of Memphis, Tenn., opened a new round in the Dixon-Yates fight Friday by threatening to generate its own electricity if the administration insists on the privte power contract.

Thomas H. Allen, the city's public utility commissioner, made the statement before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee as foes of the Dixon-Yates plan opened a Senate drive to kill it. A similar drive was rejected by the House Thursday.

Allen said Memphis does not intend again to be subject to the domination of a utility holding company from which it freed itself in 1939, nor is Memphis willing to participate in the liquidation of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

He urged the subcommittee to reject an administration request for $6.5 million for a transmission line to link the Dixon-Yates plant at West Memphis, Ark., with the TVA system. He proposed diverting the money to start a new TVA power plant at Fulton, Tenn.

This is the same move the House rejected after a bitter fight Thursday. Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), leader of anti-Dixon - Yates forces in the Senate, said it is "very difficult to defeat a combination of the power of the presidency and the private power trust."

Allen told the Senate subcommittee the government will not pay "the excess cost" of the Dixon-Yates power indefinitely and "sooner or later it will be unloaded on Memphis."

Youth Released

New Lead Found In Murder Of Teen-Age Girls

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Police tonight checked a report that an armed inmate of an Army mental hospital was seen in the suburban Maryland picnic area where two pretty teen-age school girls were slain mysteriously Wednesday morning.

The new lead followed release of Norman William Hager, an 18-year-old friend of the girls who had been held 2½ days for questioning in the double murder.

Hager was freed after his attorneys successfully brought habeas corpus proceedings charging he had been held illegally without communication with his parents or attorneys.

Nancy Marie Shomette, 16, and Michael Ann Ryan, 14, were discovered by a howling dog after they had been riddled by a fusillade of fourteen .22 caliber rifle bullets in woodlands near the University of Maryland. They had not been sexually attacked.

Radio Reports Rebellion Try In Red China

Says Revolters Were Arrested, Sentenced To Die

TOKYO, Saturday, June 18—UP—Radio Peiping Saturday said Red China arrested and sentenced to death a group of revolters who planned to overthrow the Communist regime.

A Chinese language broadcast, monitored here, did not reveal when the revolt was uncovered, how many persons were arrested, or when the arrests were made.

Radio Peiping said the group operated in underground shelters in central China. One of the shelters contained an iron forge for manufacturing "murderous weapons," the broadcast said.

A "group of anti-revolutionary elements," the broadcast said, was organized to overthrow the Red Chinese regime and replace it with a monarchy.

Radio Peiping said those arrested carried on "subversive" activities among Chinese farmers in the Chang Chiakow sector of Hopei province northwest of Peiping. Members of the anti-Communist group were jailed in six arrests, the broadcast said.

The broadcast said all revolters were tried and some were sentenced to death. Others were turned over to the "peoples custody."

China was ruled by emperors until the exiled republic was founded in 1912.

The broadcast, made in Chinese, followed by only a four hours another broadcast revealing the arrest of a group of saboteurs on charges of derailing trains and setting fires in Manchuria.

The Manchurian incident apparently was not related to the revolt of the monarchists.

Diplomatic observers here said the two announcements were significant since the Peiping government rarely reports internal discord. Reports of a direct effort to unseat the Communist regime are particularly unusual, diplomats said.

Chinese observers in Tokyo saw no direct connection with the monarchist plot and the April 4 purges of the former Communist chief in Manchuria and the former political commissar for the northeast China military district.

Plan 'Liberalized' Social Security Drive In House

WASHINGTON, June 17—UP—Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.) announced Friday that House Democrats will open a drive next Thursday for a "liberalized" Social Security program which would make another 1 million persons eligible for benefits.

The three-point Social Security plan was devised Wednesday at a secret caucus of House Democratic leaders and Democratic members of the Ways & Means committe. Cooper head the committee.

The plan would lower from 65 to 62 the age at which women can draw retirement benefits, and allow permanently and totally disabled workers to draw benefits immediately instead of waiting until age 65.

Revolt Anniversary

Security Lid Clamped Upon East Germany

BERLIN, June 17—UP—A security lid of 350,000 Red army troops, a 120,000-man Communist police army and patrols of workers' militia kept an uneasy quiet Friday in East Germany on the second anniversary of the bloody June 17 workers revolt.

It was a day of complete contrast between East and West Germany.

All day long thousands of West Berliners filed past a simple stone memorial, unveiled Friday morning in a French sector cemetery, honoring the victims of the June 17, 1953 East Zone uprising. Friday was a holiday in West Berlin commemorating the revolt.

A few hundred yards away in Red East Berlin government building were guarded by armed police, railway stations were deserted, and carbine-carrying militia patrolled factories where Soviet Zone workers were on the job as usual.

A new uprising would have been suicidal in the face of the security measures taken by the Communists and the presence of the Red army troops and tanks. The jittery East German government alerted all the 120,000 police and put the workers' militia on guard duty.

Government and party officials were warned not to travel in the zone except on urgent business, and rail journeys to Berlin were banned over the anniversary period.

The extraordinary precautions showed how much the Communists feared another revolt, and emphasized the deteriorating economic and political conditions in the eastern zone.

Arrest Pretty Twins

End Double Trouble In New York

NEW YORK, June 17 --UP—The highest fines ever imposed in a New York City traffic court were levied Friday against pretty twin sisters, who had police running in circles for years in the belief that one woman was masquerading under two names.

The sentences totaled $5,000, or 560 days in jail.

The major offender was Mrs. Dana Miller who was assessed $4,360 of the fine, or 439 days in jail, for one ticket for speeding, one for passing a red light and 84 for parking violations over an eight-year period.

Her twin, Mrs. Sonia Shaw, of Carmel, N. Y., was fined $700, or 70 days in jail for 14 tickets.

Mrs. Miller was described to be the most persistent "scofflaw" yet brought into magistrate's court.

The sisters, 35, jointly own and operate a dog breeding business. Saul Allen, director of the traffic summons control bureau, said their descriptions tallied so closely his investigators had been working on the theory they were the same woman. Their license records proved them to be twins.

Allen said he had been trying to find the women for eight years.

Mrs. Miller said she had hired a lawyer in 1953 to "take care of all my tickets" but he apparently had failed to do so. She said most of the tickets were collected when she lent her car to friends and customers.

Navy Test Pilots Set Record Speed Dallas To Memphis

MEMPHIS, June 17 (AP)—A couple of high-heeled Navy pilots zoomed from Dallas to Memphis in 34 minutes today, fastest ever between here and there.

Comdr. G. W. Brooks of Knoxville and Lt. Bill Phillips of Cleveland, Tenn., covered 351 air miles at 11½ miles a minute. That's better than 650 miles an hour level flight.

They were in a hurry to show off the supersonic F7U-3 jet fighters at the annual mid-south Navy festival which opened a three-day run today at the Memphis Naval Air station.

Most folks would consider 34 minutes from Dallas to Memphis pretty hot time.

Peron Threatens Mobs Who Looted And Burned Churches In Argentina

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, June 17 (AP)—Argentine President Juan Peron tonight threatened to crack down on free-roaming mobs who looted and burned Catholic churches in the bloody Thursday revolt in Buenos Aires.

The Argentine strong man, in a broadcast filled with tremulous appeals for calm and order, blamed Communists for the attacks on the with the Roman Catholic hierarchy was not against religion.

"We are not fighting religion. We have always said that," he declared in his 13-minute broadcast to the Argentines.

Federal police announced 156 persons were killed in the brief ill-starred revolt staged almost solely by the Argentine navy and its air arm. Wounded totaled 846, of whom 96 were in grave condition, the police said. But the independent Buenos Aires newspaper La Nacion was said to have reported 360 deaths.

Uruguayan airfields near Montevideo were hosts to 39 Argentine rebel navy planes. The traditional Uruguayan haven for Argentine exiles had given refuge to 122 Argentine naval air officers and men.

Though Peron claimed that the revolt was smashed, the continued shutdown on normal communications with the Argentine capital caused suspicion that there were lingering pockets of die-hard resistance.

A broadcast heard in Montevideo tonight, claiming to be from a Clandestine Argentine rebel radio, reported naval forces had risen against the government in three cities.

The first eyewitness account of the revolt received since the shutdown in communications said mobs set fire to nearly every Catholic church in downtown Buenos Aires.

This account, by the Reuters correspondent in Buenos Aires, said, "The night air of the city was glowing red with fires started by groups who first broke into Roman Catholic diocesan headquarters next to the cathedral and set it afire. They then entered the cathedral, destroyed all they could lay their hands on."

The U. S. Embassy in the Argentine capital estimated that seven churches in all were attacked.

The Reuters correspondent's account of the fighting said about 1,000 were wounded in the air bombings of Government House, which contains the offices of Peron, the Treasury, the headquarters of the pro-government General Confederation of Labor and other buildings.

Higher Appeal In Sheffield Case Will Be Filed

WINNSBORO, La., June 17 (Special) —District Attorney Harry N. Anders said today he plans to appeal a U. S. circuit court decision which upheld a ruling which ordered that killer Joseph Sheffield be given a new trial or released from custody.

Anders said he would file an appeal with the United States Supreme court in an effort validate Sheffield's conviction and death sentence.

Anders' statement said: "The district attorney's office has decided to prosecute further appeals in the Joe Sheffield case. The reason being that we feel it is our duty to exhaust every possible right of appeal, and other legal remedies in a case such as the Sheffield case.

"The questions which are involved," Anders said, "and which same question could arise in any future murder trial anywhere in the state of Louisiana, should be finally determined by the highest court in the land; especially, since a federal district court intervened in the manner as was done in the Sheffield case, which intervention we feel to be in direction conflict with the existing laws of the state of Louisiana."

Sheffield is now in the Franklin parish jail. He has been in jail since his arrest two years ago. He was later convicted and sentenced to electrocution for the slaying of Deputy Sheriff John L. Waller, brother of Franklin parish sheriff Hiram Waller.

Since his conviction the state supreme court refused to intervene.

15 Men Injured As Tank Explodes At Oak Ridge

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., June 7—UP—A 55,000-gallon chemical tank exploded and spilled its contents on workers at a secret project in the Oak Ridge atomic area Friday, injuring 15 men, three of them seriously.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the tank "ruptured" and fell, breaking auxiliary and steam water lines nearby. He denied a report that a fire also broke out.

Ten of the men were admitted to Oak Ridge Hospital. Two others were treated there and released and three were treated by private physicians. Most of them suffered scalp burns.

The spokesman emphasized that the accident occurred at a construction job. It was not an atomic explosion and had no effect on production he said. Most of those injured are employes of the Mundet Cork Corp., a subsidiary of Rust Engineering Co.

Disappearance Of Judge And Wife Remains Mystery

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., June 17 (AP)—The disappearance of Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife remained a deep mystery tonight.

State prosecutor W. H. (Buddy) Gunyon was quoted as saying he expected an early break, but when reached by telephone later the investigator denied the report.

Wealthy, highly respected Judge Chillingworth, 58, and his wife, Marjorie, 57, disappeared from their summer cottage on the ocean-front at Manalapan, 10 miles south of here, during the night Tuesday or early Wednesday. Bloodstains were found on the steps leading to the beach and around a small skiff on the beach.

Doors to the house were open, and a floodlight illuminating the steps and beach was smashed. Both had been slept in, indicating the couple had retired and were suddenly to face an unknown fate.

The family hopeful their mother and father are alive, named an intermediary for possible kidnapers to contact. He is the Rev. Harold H. Waller, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who reported receiving a number of calls, none of them helpful. He is maintaining a 24-hour telephone watch.

Three daughters of the couple—Nova of New York, Mrs. George Wright of Gainesville, and Mrs. William Cooper of Roselle, N. J.—are maintaining a watch at the house from which their parents disappeared. Two sheriff's deputies are with them.

Rewards totaling $11,500 have been offered by the town of Palm Beach and the county bar association for their safe return or information leading to conviction of their slayers. Palm Beach County also has authorized a $5,000 reward subject to approval of the state attorney general and the County Budget Board.

Judge Chillingworth is a member of a pioneer family, owner of considerable property and is socially prominent.

For one month each year he sits in criminal cases, devoting the rest of the year to civil jurisprudence. The list of persons he has tried in criminal cases is being checked for a possible clue to a motive for revenge.

Denies Any Link Between Beating, Overdose Of Pills

HOLLYWOOD, July 17 (AP)—Alice Lon, the "Champagne Lady" who figured in a beating-torture case this week, Friday denied there was any connection between that incident and an overdose of sleeping pills police reported her husband took recently.

Pasadena, Calif., officers reported that Miss Lon's husband, Robert W. Waterman, former Southern Methodist football player, was listed on their records as having been treated for an overdose of sleeping pills on May 4. They listed it as a possible suicide attempt.

Waterman termed the overdose "accidental." The police report said he was found unconscious at the Pasadena Settlement House where he is employed.

gressional and presidential elections.

President Eisenhower has said he sees no need for such a study.

The resolution calling for the commission study is sponsored by Sens. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Stennis (D-Miss.).

Before the Civil Service subcommittee, Barnes denounced the charges against operation of the security program in his agency as "irresponsible, erroneous and misleading." He said they contained "exaggerations and falsity."

For example, Barnes said, Clarke has testified that "scores of former employes have lost their jobs for unjust cause."

The SBA head said the fact is that only five cases have been processed by his agency under the Eisenhower security order, and that in each case the employe resigned.

He said eight others quit or were fired under Civil Service regulations for unsuitability and two others were discharged at the direction of the Civil Service Commission. He added that 51 employes had left to accept outside jobs, retire, marry, return to school, join other government agencies or for similar reasons.

"I ask the committee in all seriousness, does this sound like 'scores' of former employes have lost their jobs for unjust cause?" Barnes demanded.

Lyell, a 29-year-old lawyer from Jackson, Miss., centered his criticism on George V. McDavitt, director of SBA's Office of Compliance and Security.

He said McDavitt told him that in preparing dossiers of FBI and Civil Service field investigations, he was to set out all derogatory information fully but to leave out all nonderogatory information, except to say that such and such a number of interviewed persons had given no derogatory information. He said this system did not admit the possibility that an informer could be prejudiced, or lying or misinformed.

He testified that on two occasions his reports had been altered materially to make out stronger cases against employes. He said McDavitt recast one report to attribute derogatory information to a different source.

The final report then was not true, asked Sen. Neely (D-W. Va.).

"As McDavitt wrote it, no, sir," replied Lyell.

Lyell and Clarke contended employes were not necessarily fired outright under the security program but they were coerced into leaving their jobs.

Both investigators said their employment by the SBA had been cleared through the Republican National Committee.

Maxwell Named To Replace Avant On Police Jury

Meeting in special session yesterday, the Ouachita parish police jury promulgated the returns of the recent one-third mill tax election, and a new member was seated for his first meeting, to complete the unexpired term of the late G. P. Avant. Avant died suddenly last week.

The new member is F. E. Maxwell, West Monroe businessman. He was sworn in just before the police jury meeting.

Maxwell owns and operates the Maxwell Hardware store in West Monroe and has a business interest in a Delhi store. He has been a resident in West Monroe for a number of years. He moved there in 1926 but lived in Delhi from 1934 to 1950, when he returned to the Twin Cities and established his present business.

This is the first public office held by Maxwell.

In the meeting held Friday morning, official tabulations showed the issue carried 997 against 116 in popular vote with the valuation for the two sides set at $3,325,311 in favor and $383,666 against the tax.

The purpose of the tax is to construct a juvenile detention home for Ouachita parish. It is to house up to 16 children, with separate facilities for Negro, and whites, boys and girls.

The tax is expected to bring in $20,000 annually or a total of $130,000 over the five year period. The funds will purchase land to be used and construct the building. The state welfare department will be in charge of the institution's maintenance.

would head it with, "Parson Ties Knot in His Shirttail."

Clint Hanna on the faculty of Northeast State College, gave an exceptionally complete and instructive talk to the Monroe Civitan club Thursday night. He told that in five years, as a four-year college, that all anticipations and forecasts had been eclipsed. In both attendance, courses offered and in the addition to the Twin Cities of what is equal to another great industry.

He said that the budget for next year will be fully or more than a million dollars, and with 1600 students, the number anticipated this fall, these should in a year's time expend here and in this vicinity more than a million dollars in living expenses and essentials.

The college right now is undertaking a two million dollar building program, Mr. Hanna said.

The second Golson test is being started by the Zack Brooks Drilling company in West Ouachita parish, a fourth of a mile distant from the No. 1 test. The new well will be drilled to 10,500 feet. The first test measured production of distillate at three million cubic feet on a quarter inch choke.

The city of Monroe is surely expanding. In every direction it is being pushed out. The latest project that seems to be forming is indicated in the sale of 200 acres of land on highway 165 about six miles north of Monroe. A well known realtor is the purchaser and it is probable that he will develop a suburban subdivision on the site just acquired.

The St. Francis Alumnae banquet will be held at their third annual homecoming in the St. Francis hospital auditorium, tonight at 7 o'clock.

Fun and fellowship will be the order of things and a good meal and a program of interest and delightful surprises will result. Classmates and old friends will be reunited for the occasion.

It is hoped that the price charged for the banquet will leave a sum remaining after expenses are all paid to liquidate the balance of $200 for the room that has been furnished in the new hospital.

The immediate erection of the new sanctuary of the Memorial Methodist church, on Sherrouse avenue, is assured. It will serve a very definite purpose for this fast growing church. Its design, quite modernistic, include a massive tower surmounted by an illuminated cross. This will prove quite a pleasing and inspiring addition to the churches in the college area.

Olsen Conviction For Collaborating Okayed By Officer

FT. BAGG, N. C., June 17—UP—The conviction of M Sgt. William H. Olsen, accused of collaborating with the Chinese Reds while a prisoner of war in Korea, was approved Friday of the Commander of Ft. Bragg.

Olsen, a veteran of 20 years in the Army, will be sent to Camp Gordon, Ga., this week, Ft. Bragg authorities said.

His conviction was upheld Friday by Maj. Gen. Joseph P. Cleland, commander of the post.

Olsen, a lean-jawned native of Youngsville, Pa., was sentenced to two years hard labor, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and a dishonorable discharge.

He was convicted of making statements and speeches and of writing articles "calculated to aid the enemy" while a prisoner of war between Dec. 25, 1950 and Oct. 15, 1951.

personal residence at Palermo, on the outskirts broke most of the windows of the British Embassy.

Poor visibility apparently accounted for the fact that many of the bombs missed their prime targets and did wide property damage in the center of the city.

With the falling of bombs, violent fighting immediately broke out between navy forces in the Ministry of Marine building and soldiers from the Army Ministry and Peron's guard at Government House.

The Navy Ministry ran up a surrender flag within an hour and a half, and all inside were taken prisoner. Marines in the port area also were overpowered.

The eyewitness said Buenos Aires was a dismal spectacle, with widespread signs of destruction, cars burned, a trolley smashed, electric wires dangling, and bloodstains on the floors and pavements.

Workers rushing to the central Plaza de Mayo to defend the government with arms seized from gun shops, were dispersed repeatedly by overhead planes, while ambulances and private cars marked with the Red Cross struggled to pick up the wounded.

Again and again in his broadcast tonight Peron promised to deal harshly but justly with the rebels. He appealed over and over to let forthcoming elections settle his feud with the church.

Crediting a tip from intelligence officers for his escape from the bombing and strafing that scarred his pink-walled Government House only a few hours after he was excommunicated by the Vatican, the chief executive said:

"We would not be worthy of governing if we did not know how to guarantee liberty of conscience . . . I have said a thousand times that I am a Catholic and that many of us are Catholics."

He urged his listeners to work hard to help repair the damage "caused by foolish people" in the revolt, which he termed absolutely crushed.

Without going into detail, Peron repudiated "the depredations committed by Communist elements" against the churches even while counseling priests to obey police orders and cease distributing pamphlets or spreading rumors on the seven-month-old church-state controversy.

In Montevideo, traditional haven of Argentine exiles, there were unconfirmed reports a half dozen Buenos Aires churches, including the Metropolitan Cathedral and the adjoining palace of Santiago Cardinal Copello, the Argentine primate, were set afire. The cathedral faces on the central Plaza de Mayo, a scene of brisk fighting yesterday between the rebels and loyal troops.

the train and Molotov and most of his party apparently slept through the incident.

About 60 to 70 persons, most of them displaced persons from Latvia and Lithuania, gathered at the station two hours before the train pulled in at 4 a.m. est.

Worried railroad officials summoned police as the demonstrators milled around. Authorities promptly banned them from descending to a lower level of the station where the tracks are located.

When Molotov's train, the Chicago and North Western's City of San Francisco, arrived the demonstrators moved outside to a viaduct spanning the tracks where they could see the sleek streamliner.

There they set up a chorus of shouts and jeers in their native tongues and waved their signs. Other placards read, "Communism soaked with blood of Lithuanians."

The din aroused a few Russians believed to be bodyguards, who peered out the darkened doors and windows of their special Pullmans and then quickly retreated. The train left a half hour later.

A spokesman for the demonstrators said the nationality groups gathered because Friday was the 15th anniversary of the Russian invasion of Latvia. Two days before, on June 15, they invaded Lithuania.

ect near the slaying told police today they saw a man armed with a rifle and wearing a bandolier of ammunition to into the picnic area Tuesday night.

Rodney Shomette, uncle of one of the victims and a worker on the project, said the man reappeared about 10:30 Wednesday morning, stopped for a drink of water and talked to some of the workers. Shomette quoted the workers as saying the man was an inmate of a "GI mental hospital."

The bodies were discovered about 10:40 a.m. and police said the girls had been dead less than three hours.

Police were reported to have picked up for questioning one of the construction workers who talked with the man. Police had no comment on this new aspect of the case, however.

The new report jibed with the story of an anonymous telephone caller, described as probably a teen-age boy, who told police yesterday he saw a man fire two bursts of rifle shots from behind a tree where the bodies were found. The caller hung up without identifying himself.

Checking his story, police found a dozen shell casings at the base of a tree.

From the position of the bodies and the shells, police in theory reconstructed the scene thus: the killer fired from ambush, felled the Ryan girl immediately with three bullets, then pumped 11 bullets into the Homette girl as she tried to run away.

addresses for the three: Benson, 17 Kenyon road, Salt Lake City; Stroud, son of Mrs. Estella Lawler of 225 S. Park St. Kewanee, Ill.; and Mule, Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

When the story broke today, the State Department refused to make any official comment. Officials appeared upset because a reporter learned about it.

Reliable informants, however, reported the three Americans had been declared persons non grata—a diplomatic phrase which means they are no longer acceptable in the Soviet Union.

In the past, Russia and the United States both have resorted to this diplomatic move whenever they want to force the departure of anyone suspected or accused of spying on them.

In the last such case, July 3, 1954, Russia expelled two Americans — Lt. Col. H. Felchlin, an assistant attache; and Maj. W. McKinney. They were charged with seeking to perform espionage work, an activity "incompatible with their diplomatic status." The State Department categorically denied Russia's charge.

The department said at the time that Russia's move actually was retaliation against the United States for forcing the departure earlier in 1954 of three Soviet diplomats alleged to have engaged in spying.

Later, however the federal district court intervened and issued a writ of habeas corpus, which was upheld by the circuit court.

Franklin authorities have six months after the decree is issued on the final appeal to either give Sheffield a new trial or turn him loose.

Maritime Union Talks Fruitless

NEW YORK, June 17—UP—Negotiators for American flag tanker operators and the National Maritime Union worked fruitlessly Friday to reach a new contract agreement. The union demands a form of guaranteed wage similar to that won Thursday night from dry cargo ship owners.

The tanker negotiations broke up shortly before 5 p.m. No progress was reported.

Some 5,000 seamen in the Port of New York ratified the National Maritime Union agreement with the dry cargo and passenger ship operators by a voice vote Friday.

New Oil Drilling Barge Capsizes Off Grand Isle

NEW ORLEANS, June 17 (AP)—A new, two million dollar oil drilling barge en route to its first assignment in the tidelands area, capsized today in the Gulf of Mexico off Grand Isle, La.

Most of the 43 men aboard leaped into the gulf while others remained on the sloping side of the overturned vessel. The tugboat Delilah and two crewboats from nearby Humble Oil Co. docks, rescued all 43 without injury.

The barge, christened last Februaru, is owned by American Tidelands, Inc. of New Orleans and was en route to a drilling site for Humble Oil Co.

More than half the 43 crewmen were asleep in the barge's air conditioned quarters when it began listing. The alarm, shortly after 4 a.m. (CST), brought them out in night clothes or underwear.

About 10 of th ecrewmen stuck to the barge, but the others took to the water.

Charles Shoe of Charleston, S. C., maintenance supervisor, was in bed when the alarm sounded.

"I got up and dressed, in a hurry all right, and got out on topside.

"It was listing way over when I got up there. I don't know how far, but way over. Some of the boys got panicky. They started leaping overboard.

"Then I heard the drill pipe break loose and roll to the side. We had enough pipe there to drill a 15,000-foot hole.

"By that time most of the men were over the side. I rode a rope down into the water. The (Rescue) boats were right there by then.

"One man was out there in his drawer-tails calling my name. He kept asking me what he should do.

"I didn't know what to tell him. I guess eight or 10 men stuck to the barge. They rode it right over.

Probably we would all have been better off if we'd done that. Plenty of the men were scared. We were lucky the boats were there so quickly."

Spencer Rowan, vice president of American Tidelands, aboard the barge at the time it capsized, said he had no idea what caused the accident.

Repairs were underway on the rig at the time of the upset. A crew of men from Alexander Shipyards of New Orleans, was aboard.

Buck Frolich, a professional diver from New Orleans, said he had just come up from patching underwater leaks when the barge began to list.

A Coast Guard cutter at the scene said the barge appeared to be heavily damaged and constituted a hazard to navigation.

Ivy LeBlanc, skipper of one of the crewboats which went to the rescue, said when he arrived at the scene "some of the men were still hanging on top of the rigging."

LeBlanc said, "Most of the men were in the water, some on life rafts. We threw ropes to them. I guess they all lost their belongings. Lucky it went over gradually. Guess it took an hour or so to go over altogether."

Senate Ratifies Austrian Treaty By 63 To 3 Vote

WASHINGTON, June 17—UP—The Senate overwhelmingly ratified the Austrian peace treaty Friday after Democratic leaders said it will strengthen Presiden Eisenhower's hand at Big Four conferences with Russia.

The treaty was approved by a roll call vote of 63 to 3, far more than the required two-thirds majority, after several hours of debate.

Sens. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.), George W. Malone (R-Nev.) and Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was the three opposing votes.

The limited opposition was led by Jenner. He said the pact will not permit Austria to rearm enough to defend herself, and "a helpless Austria will be a Soviet Austria in short order."

The treaty was signed recently by the United States, Russia, Britain and France. It will allow Austria to rearm as a neutral nation after 10 years of occupation by Big Four forces. The Soviet Union and Austria already have ratified the long-sought agreement.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee, urging prompt ratification, recommended that the State Department do what it can to get the Russians to remove their troops from Hungary and Romania under the terms of peace treaties with those nations.

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a top-ranking committee member, said ratification would be a "compelling expression of our bi-partisan support to the President" before tht Big Four meeting next month. He said the Big Four may start building a "solid foundation for peace... in the weeks immediately ahead."

Gen. Montgomery Not To Be Sent To Louisiana Base

OMAHA, June 17 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Richard M. Montgomery will continue as chief of staff of the Strategic Air Command here for an indefinite period, Gen. Curtis Le May, commanding general of SAC, announced today.

Gen. Montgomery was to have gone to Lake Charles Air Force Base, La., to take command of the 806th Air Division and Brig. Gen. Jack Roberts had been named to succeed him.

But Gen. Roberts died of heart attack June 2 while vacationing in Colorado, after leaving the post of chief of staff of the 8th Air Force.

SAC headquarters said there has been no assignment as yet to the 806th Air Division.

Gaps In The U. S. Defense Program

The very survival of the United States as a free nation depends to a large extent upon its ability to keep ahead of Russia in the development of new weapons.

For several years, our exclusive possession of the atomic bomb was a powerful deterrent to red ambitions for world conquest. But Russia now has both the atomic and the hydrogen bomb. Our stock of these weapons undoubtedly is several times larger than that of Russia, and the probabilities are that we enjoy continued superiority in the category of performance, where thermo-nuclear missiles are involved.

American complacency received a jolt a few weeks ago, when Russia unveiled an equivalent of our intercontinental bomber, the B-52—some two years ahead of the time anticipated by our military authorities. As a result of this development, production of military aircraft has been stepped up sharply by the United States.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, Democrat of Washington, charged Thursday that both the Truman and Eisenhower administrations have underestimated Russia's ability to produce and deliver atomic weapons. He heads a joint Congressional subcommittee on atomic military affairs.

In the face of persistent reports that Russia is building a nuclear-powered military plane, Navy Secretary Charles Thomas has initiated a "vigorous program" to develop atomic engines both for aircraft and for all types of ships. This program, in the belief of many experts, is at least two years overdue.

In American military circles, however, the biggest source of worry involving the competitive arms race between the West and Russia has to do with guided missiles. The United States has lagged persistantly in this field, despite the brilliant theoretical work of such men as Prof. R. H. Goddard of Massachusetts.

A guided missile is a rocket with directional steering apparatus attached. Rockets have been used in war since A. D. 1232, if not earlier, and their effective use by the British at the Battle of Bladensburg during the War of 1812 led to the British capture and burning of Washington D. C.

Although Prof. Goddard worked out the theories on which modern guided missile engineering is based, military and Congressional apathy and indifference robbed America of the fruits of his brilliant work. Rocket development in the period between World Wars I and II was centered in Germany and Austria, and these European nations were years ahead of us in this important category of arms. When Hitler's regime collapsed, our country seized a large number of German and Austrian rocket experts and technicians, and transported them to the Southwestern desert, along with some of the missiles they had turned out. Russia, unfortunately for us, seized many of these experts, together with nearly all of the installations where "Buzz Bombs" and other weapons had been manufactured.

The latest issue of the magazine Aero Digest carries an article by Erik Bergaust, rocket and guided missile editor, embodying the findings made in an European survey lasting several weeks. This article reveals that apparently the United States is still "asleep at the switch," trailing the procession, in rocket development. Bergaust says that Russia reportedly has developed a missile that can be fired from a submarine 200 feet under water to reach a surface target 140 miles away. He adds that Russia may be closer to the goals of an atomic-powered rocket and a "satellite" space platform than is the United States, for the very simple reason that the reds are placing great emphasis of manpower and money on these objectives.

This expert also reveals that Russia reportedly is making progress toward perfection of a "photonic" rocket, propelled by beams of light. No reports of similar progress affecting this spectacular device have been received from the United States. A photonic rocket works on the well-known principle that light striking a solid object has an impact similar in a small way to that of a bullet. Many persons have seen toy "light mills" in drug store windows, their blades propelled by this impact. Theoretically, a photonic rocket traveling outside of the earth's atmosphere could approach the speed of light, circling the earth several times in a single second.

Our nuclear weapons advantage is of no avail to the United States unless we maintain supremacy in methods of delivery. We cannot afford to relax our program of building intercontinental bombers capable of dropping atomic or hydrogen bombs. But the time would seem to be approaching when intercontinental guided missiles traveling thousands of miles away, will supplant conventional aircraft as the primary method of delivering warheads.

In rocket and missile development, our policy has been "safe and sane." National security demands that we not be stampeded into hasty and ill-considered action, but the people are entitled to the best brains in the country working on these weapons.

THESE DAYS

A Refugee Speaks

Dr. Otto Nathan took refuge in the United States from the Nazis, became a professor of economics at New York University, was named by Albert Einstein as his executor, and has been fighting the State Department in the courts because it has refused to grant him a passport to travel in Europe. Thus far, he has not disclosed what he has done with Einstein's ashes and there is a suspicion among some that his current compulsion to go to Europe has something to do with the disposition of the final remains of the philosopher.

In the Charleston (West Virginia) Daily Mail of February 10, I find a report of a speech Dr. Nathan delivered in that city. One paragraph followed almost word for word the statements of a Communist I listened to in Lewisham, outside of London, during the recent elections in England. Dr. Nathan said in Charleston:

"The United States is the leader of Western countries establishing military bases all around the U.S.S.R. and that is why the Russians consider us the chief of leaders in the cold war."

Dr. Nathan in his speech went right down the line. He favored coexistence.

"We must face the cold facts of reality that there are two rival camps—capitalism and communism, and I am convinced that they can coexist."

"I say again, again and again that we must learn to coexist in the two worlds—capitalism and communism. It is a historical necessity that they exist."

He placed the United States in the category of imperialistic nations.

"The imperialism and colonialism practiced in underdeveloped countries are equally responsible for the existence of the cold war. The United States is guilty of interference in the governments of some Latin American nations. . . .

"We (the United States) had no business interfering in the struggle of the shoeless and economically distressed people of Guatemala—it was a popular uprising of the native people—some of whom may be Communists."

Dr. Otto Nathan, as a person, is not of tremendous significance. His presence in this country has been exotic. His name emerged when Einstein died. One can pass over such statements as the private opinion of an individual, an opinion to which he is entitled in a free country. Let him speak. Let him join all sorts of organizations. The United States survives all this and more.

But I am often puzzled by the phenomenon that so many of those to whom we gave sanctuary in the days when Hitler was murdering his opposition, show so little gratitude for what was done for them. It must be true that thousands of refugees are grateful, but so few of them ever give expression to their emotions, while such cases as these are glaring examples of ingratitude.

Oscar Lange, who became a professor at Chicago University, turned on this land of freedom, denounced it, renounced his American citizenship, became the communist Polish representative here, was sent by Poland to the United Nations, and now has disappeared from public view. Perhaps Lange is a minor official in Poland or maybe he is dead. But to me he is to be remembered as an ingrate.

The brothers, Hanns and Gerhardt Eisler, were admitted into this country as refugees. Hanns is a musician and he did very well, indeed, in Hollywood. Gerhardt was a spy and for a time was the top communistic agent in this country, representing the Comintern. He escaped from the United States and was set up in East Germany to conduct a violent and untruthful propaganda in Europe against the country that gave him a home when he was in physical peril.

Thomas Mann is one of the most distinguished writers in all the world. We gave him and his family sanctuary. As soon as it was safe for him, he moved to Red German territory as a despite from dwellings in America. He has not spoken well of us since.

These are but five examples of ingratitude. Many more can be cited, but they are mostly among the so-called great minds that seek a special status as superior to other men in a land where an employee of the Department of Sanitation is equal in the eyes of the law, and, in a manner, socially, to a professor in a university. Is that wrong?

China's UN Seat Muddies U. S. Proposal To Drop Veto

WASHINGTON — Americans following the United Nations celebration in San Francisco next week will have not one, but two, dates in mind.

The first, of course, is June 26, 1945, the day the UN charter was signed by the representatives of 50 nations, and the fifth anniversary of that event will be commemorated.

The second is June 24, 1950, the day the North Koreans attacked South Korea, setting off a war in which more than 20,000 American troops were killed.

Neither day will be recalled with joy. The fifth birthday of UN coincided with the first flexing of Soviet obstruction. And Korea, which in one sense established the first world test of UN capacity to meet aggression, has been "Exhibit A" cited to help explain why the UN has not lived up to its early promise.

But the UN is still around, and although the U. S. has long since turned to regional security pacts to help keep the peace, the UN is still considered by President Eisenhower and the majority of his countrymen to be a vital instrument for world action.

Despite [illegible] the U. S. [illegible] to be considered [illegible] is what [illegible] in the UN [illegible] a review conference [illegible] next year.

Seats Block It

Some people, including Rep. [illegible] R-Wis., think [illegible] the UN is to kick [illegible] out. Others [illegible] to [illegible] Eisenhower has [illegible] the UN [illegible] The only [illegible] we have [illegible] for international [illegible]

[illegible] the U. S. has done [illegible] to limit the [illegible] of Communist China in the UN. In 1950, both Senate and House again went on record against UN admission for Red China by votes of 76-0 and 379-0. Again in 1954 congress stated its unanimous opposition to such a step.

Currently, Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland (R. Calif.) is the most outspoken congressman on this subject. Says he: "If the appeasers force Red China in the UN, I shall devote the balance of my life to taking the United States out."

So far the U. S. has successfully prevented the seating of Communist China without resort to the veto. All told, the question has come to a vote some 150 times in 20 UN or UN-affiliated bodies, always with a negative result. But if the veto on new members is to be abolished, the U. S. may find it difficult to justify its retention for the question of which government should be seated.

Our Children

Father's Day

Father is entitled to his day, a good day, one of those bright sunny ones with the sky high and blue as a Madonna's mantle and her white sheep wandering across it.

Against this lovely background Father would like best the smiling, cheering loving family group to whom he has devoted his life, for whom he has given up many a wish, many a bit of pleasure, many a cherished hope.

When the boy he has so often shaken his head over, who so often has given him a wakeful hour, comes shyly to his side and slips a beribboned package into his hand, saying, "For you, Dad. And I earned the money for that book myself. It's the one you said you'd like to read," the slate is washed clean. That boy is worth a million any day.

And when Sister comes along with a smile that threatens her ears and says, "Come along, Dad. We're ready. You should see what's coming. Your daughter's dad rates high, I can tell you," and there is the table in full dress with his family standing behind their chairs, all a glow of affection—well it's just wonderful what a family can mean to a Dad.

Dad rarely has a box high he rates with his cadaun. He does not hear his boy say with such a of pride in his voice, "My father can pitch a ball and believe me DiMaggio would have to go some if he was on the team." He does not hear his son's conscience saying, "Dad would hate to know you didn't play fair. Dam it, your face was not on the line." He does not know how, when the kid finds the perfect present for his dad he says to him, "Don't you see me."

Nor can he know the depth of the affection Sister has for him as she says so loudly, "Hi Dad." and goes on her way. How can he know that she says, "To that silly? I wouldn't think of a kiss. Dad would think I was crazy, after all the talk about kissing dolly and such and watching my step. Dad isn't a killjoy but he does like a reasonable. And I know he is all for me. Now on that. I want to be able to face him across the table always."

Much of the strength a father and his family is often made by the [illegible] of such. But it [illegible] a strong [illegible] children [illegible] home and the mother who [illegible] the hands. His interrogation "Dear?" his sympathetic, "Well, [illegible] that one?" his stern "Why?" has such hold on what is best for his family come what may, underlies each day's routine making it meaningful and so worthwhile. We salute Dad today.

Pied Piper

This has not been officially designated as a rebirth of political good feeling, yet the statistics show that it might well be.

The opposing political parties seldom cease fire in house and senate, but since votes count more than empty words, let's take a look at the record, as the late Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York used to say.

It shows the reason why Republicans, with few exceptions, insist that President Eisenhower run again, whether they agree with him or not. He has more combined Republican and Democratic support in congress than any peace time president during the last two decades.

On 40 "Eisenhower-issue" roll calls this year, 21 in the senate and 19 in the house — those on which the president made clear how he would have voted — the reliable Congressional Quarterly figures that Eisenhower score in the senate was 18 victories and in the house 13. Defeats in the respective houses were three and six. But the important fact was that more than 50 per cent of the voting Democrats supported the president on 16 senate roll calls and on 11 house calls.

On the same votes, more than 50 per cent of the senate Republicans voted the president's way on 19 roll calls while more than half the house Republicans backed him on only 12 roll calls.

Not only did Eisenhower have less house support from Republicans than from Democrats on those votes where the issue was clear cut, but there were sixteen such roll calls in the senate and 13 in the house on which the Democrats supplied the winning margin. The president had overall support on the same "issue votes" from 71 per cent of the senate Republicans and 60 per cent of the Democrats, 61 per cent of the house Republicans and 56 per cent of the Democrats.

The highest score in Democratic support of Eisenhower was among southern senators, 66 per cent of whom supported him on the key issues. Senator Spessard L. Holland of Florida topped the list with 86 per cent, while Rep. Frank E. Smith of Mississippi led the house members from the south who 81 per cent. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, majority leader of the senate was low among southern senators in support of Eisenhower with 19 per cent, but was absent for a considerable period on account of illness. Texas other senator, Price Daniel has agreed with the president's position on 67 per cent of the key votes.

Louisiana's senators, Allen J. Ellender and Russell B. Long, were recorded 76 and 67 per cent in favor of the Eisenhower program, Oklahoma's Robert S. Kerr and A. S. (Mike) Monroney, 62 and 71 per cent. In Mississippi, Senator James O. Eastland and John Stennis both had a very high percentage of 71 in their support of the president's measures. North Carolina's Sam J. Ervin Jr. and W. Kerr Scott were up there too with 62 and 72 per cent respectively.

Much cooler toward the president's program were Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, 57 per cent and his colleague Senator Albert Gore, 62 per cent.

Eastern Democratic senators were also more opposed to the general Eisenhower program. Senator Allen Frear of Delaware was recorded as having given it 52 per cent support.

Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas was also one of the cooler partisans, but managed to support the Eisenhower - issues on 57 per cent of the votes while his colleague Senator John L. McClellan voted "aye" on 76 per cent.

There were 11 roll calls on foreign policy questions on which senatorial batting averages were compiled, and on these the Democrats in general were higher in their support than on the entire list which included those on farm, public [illegible] Senators McClellan (Ark.), Gen. Mike Ellender (La.) and Scott (N. C.) voted 100 per cent with the president on foreign issues.

The senate Republicans who gave the president the best support were William Langer (N. D.) 19 per cent; Joseph R. McCarthy (Wis.) 13 per cent; Homer Capehart (Ind.) 12 per cent; Margaret Chase Smith (Me.) 52 per cent.

The roll call data, however, when [illegible] to try to interpret Democratic support for Eisenhower. The Republicans say it is because of the excellence of the administration proposals. The Democrats say that they are in control of this congress, that the issues are theirs rather than the president's, because Democrats control the committee which reported them.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

U.M.T. makes an excellent topic for high school and college debating teams. Most of our college president, labor unions and church leaders oppose U.M.T., and not because they are complete pacifists. They feel forced military servitude is un-American, at least in peace time.

Case O-360: Harlan D., aged 35, is a high school principal.

"Dr. Crane, what do you psychologists think about U.M.T.?" Harlan began. "Many of my high school boys are worried and uncertain about their future because of the continuing draft.

"It demoralizes them in many ways. In fact, I think much of our current juvenile delinquency is due to the threat of military conscription that hangs over the heads of all American boys.

"So what would Universal Military Training do to our youth?"

U.M.T. Debate

There are obviously two sides to such a major issue as the proper way to protect the United States from outside military aggression.

Many people, especially those who have made the Army or Navy their lifetime career, are ardent advocates of Universal Military Training for all American boys.

Others feel that the coercive or forced induction of all boys is not the American way of doing things.

Instead, they suggest that a military career be "sold" to boys on its merits, just as law or medicine or business.

They say the military "brass" just want big armies and navies in order to maintain their own officer status and higher pay.

This topic should make an ideal debate subject for our high school and college debating teams this coming year.

The military minded folks argue that we need vast armies of recruits to defend America.

"Against what?" retort those opposed to U.M.T. "If America, with the strongest fleet and air arm in the world, finds it impractical to ship vast armies abroad, how can Russia or any other possible future foe, place vast armies on American soil?"

Atomic Warfare

"Besides," they add, "if this is to be an Atomic war, why waste our money training millions of boys to trudge on drill fields and carry puny little rifles?"

The militarists, however, argue that it requires previously trained armies to defend a nation.

"How about Germany and Japan?" reply those who oppose U.M.T. "They insisted on forced conscription of men. They trained their boys to goose-step, yet our self-reliant Americans beat German soldiers in two world wars."

Psychologists are pretty well in agreement that America needs to be strong, but whether conscription of teen-agers on a universal and forced servitude basis, is the proper answer, is subject to doubt.

Recently the Council of Bishops of the Methodist church voted strongly to oppose U.M.T.

Labor Union leaders and college heads and most of the clergy are likewise heavily opposed, for they feel the idea of compulsion is repugnant to America's entire tradition, at least in peace times.

"But it does help a lot of good to get away from home and to be thrown on their own resources," many folks maintain.

That is quite true, but college will do that same thing with much less emphasis on voluptuary, sexual immorality and the coarser animalic environment.

It's not good psychology to segregate men away from the cultural and moral influences of their parents, sisters and other refining influences.

Jet pilots and scientists are the best defense of the future. Adequate pay incentive should attract plenty of top-notch men for such officer training.

Meanwhile, the National Guard of each state, plus the Boy Scouts, can handle the minimal need for foot soldiering, which is largely an obsolete concept in this Atomic age if we mind our own business and wage only defensive wars in the future.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Tornados And Damaging Storms Hit Southwest

By UNITED PRESS

Tornadoes and damaging storms battered a three-state section of the Southwest Friday night—the third night in a row that the area has been lashed by severe weather.

Kansas and Oklahoma suffered the brunt of Friday's twister damage but two funnels were sighted in the air over the Texas Panhandle.

The Texas Highway Patrol reported seeing a funnel trailing from a cloud 15 miles east of Perryton, in the top of the Panhandle, at 3:03 p.m. A pilot reported a funnel aloft eight miles southeast of White Deer at 3:28 p.m.

All of the tornado and thunderstorm activity followed warnings from weather bureaus in Fort Worth and Oklahoma City.

The warnings mostly for Oklahoma and Kansas but dropped down into the eastern edge of the Texas Panhandle. The area covered was 40 miles on either side of a line from 40 miles north of Gage, Oklahoma to 70 miles west of Wichita Falls, Tex.

A severe storm pounded Winters, Tex., Thursday night with hail the size of a man's fist. W. G. Bedford, who runs an insurance agency, estimated the damage at $500,000 to property in Winters and crops over the surrounding countryside.

"All the roofs in town are ruined," Bedford said. "We haven't enough adjusters to estimate the total damage at this time," he said.

Winters had just completed a new elementary school, said to be the biggest in the state. It had a great expanse of windows on the north side. All the windows were broken, and the roof damaged.

In Kansas, a tornado late Friday narrowly missed injuring three motoring teenagers. Two Oklahoma farms suffered twister damage.

The Oklahoma highway patrol said a twister destroyed all outbuildings on a farm two miles south and six east of Alva, Okla., late Friday.

The patrol said another storm, described by troopers as a funnel, blew down trees, a barn and a tin roof on a garage three miles east of Sayre, Okla.

Other twisters were sighted near Cherokee and Ringwood, Okla., in the north central part of the state.

The patrol said investigation showed earlier reports of funnels at Carter near Elk City and Carrier near Enid were unconfirmed. Only high straight winds were reported by sheriff's officers, the patrol said.

A tornado shattered a machine shop building on the eastern edge of Fowler in southwest Kansas. Three youths, Gary and Waldo Payle and Bob Lynn, were on a country road when they saw the tornado bearing down on them. Stopping the car, they leaped into a ditch while the twister ripped the window glass from the car.

Two other twisters were sighted in Meade county, Kan., one near Plains dipping to the ground in open country and the other remaining aloft.

Representatives Of CSC To Hold Marketing Confab

Representatives of Commercial Solvents Corporation, agricultural chemicals department are holding a marketing conference at the Frances Hotel this weekend, according to C. T. Marshall, general manager of New York City, who is in charge of the meeting.

Products sold by this department are made at the Sterlington plant and include anhydrous and aqua ammonia for direct application to the soil, as well as nitrogen solutions used by manufacturers to make mixed fertilizers.

The most important product marketed is CSC ammonium nitrate fertilizer produced by a new and exclusive process. This product is sold through fertilizer manufacturers to local dealers who sell direct to the farmer.

Representatives of the Sales Department attending include: R. W. Briedenbach, Sales Manager, New York City; M. K .McConnell, Rayville, Louisiana; Ray F. Mickels, Aurora, Illinois; and C. J. Watts, Jr., Wilmington, North Carolina.

Members of the Research and Development Department who will be at the meeting are Dr. Jerome Martin, director of research, and R. J. Harker, nitrogen coordinator, both of Terre Haute, Indiana. They will review important developments which have taken place in agriculture during the past year.

F. E. Dolian, manager of market development, New York City will attend as well as C. D. Goodale, Terre Haute, Indiana, manager of market development for agricultural chemical products. The fact that for the first time in history ample quantities of nitrogen in both liquid and solid form can be obtained by the farmer, presents important marketing problems. New plants and expanded output have now made it possible for the farmer to buy whatever form he desires. The major problem of the nitrogen producers will be to prove to the farmer that increased use of nitrogen, combined with other factors, can lower his unit costs through increased yields.

The advertising and sales promotion program will be outlined by Lee Saaborn of Fuller, Smith and Ross, Advertising Agency, New City. John N. Cronk, manager of public relations and advertising for CSC will high - light the promotion plans for the 1956 fertilizer season.

Hosts for the visitors are J. E. Wheeler, general manager production, CSC Petro - chemicals Division at Sterlington, and O. H. Manhart, plant superintendent.

Marshall said, "One of the most serious problems facing nitrogen producers is to inform the farmer about the advantages of increased profits that can be derived by applying larger quantities of mixed fertilizers and nitrogen to farm lands. This, however, is only one phase of the problem as it requires a combination of many other vactors to increase output per acre - utilization of modern farming mthods, machinery, better seed, insecticides when needed, and more efficient management. Even with greatly increased crop efficiency since the war, the average farmer is still far from approaching maximum results."

Commercial Solvents Corporation, along with other nitrogen producers, will continue to point out these advantages to the farmer. It is to his best interest to apply increased quantities of fertilizer and particularly nitrogen.

Regardless of the quantity of farm products now grown, the major problem facing the farmer is the same as that of any business man - increasing efficiency and reducing production costs.

Senate Group Approves 'General Government' Bill

WASHINGTON, June 17 (UP)—The Senate appropriations committee Friday approved the $27,996,300 "general government matters" money bill, which includes President Eisenhower's salary.

The bill, for the fiscal year beginning July 1, also included a special fund to finance disarmament studies, expenses of the White House, budget bureau, and Council of Economic Advisers.

Of the total, $490,000 is earmarked for the administration's disarmament program, headed by Harold E. Stassen. The $490,000 was included in a special $1,250,000 item not considered by the House, which would finance "special projects" that cut across the responsibilities of the regular government departments and agencies.

Other such projects include studies of foreign economic policy, disposal of agricultural surpluses and coordination of public works planning.

British Seaman Strike Boosts Air Business

LONDON, June 17 (UP)—A British seamen's strike boomed business on transatlantic air lines today. Chartered planes and scheduled airliners took off for New York with every seat filled, providing an airlift home for hundreds of Americans who had been stranded at the docks.

Thus far no Americans have appealed to the U. S. Embassy for aid, although some of them—at the end of long vacations abroad—are counting their pennies.

Eight big Cunard and Canadian Pacific ships now are strike-bound in Southampton and Liverpool, including the 81,273 - ton Queen Mary. There were signs the 1,500 strikers — mostly stewards and members of catering staffs—were anxious for a quick settlement of the dispute over hours and working conditions.

Officials of the transatlantic airlines say that during the next week their planes will be able to carry a majority of the Americans left high and dry.

The world's largest liner, the 83,673 - ton Queen Elizabeth, is due in Southampton from New York Monday. The strikers said the crewmen of that giant Cunarder will join them.

The strikers are demanding a 48 - hour week, high shore subsistence allowance and improved living conditions afloat. Some say they have worked as much as 60 or 70 hours a week.

Now the younger men face the Britain's armed services. The draft laws exempt merchant seamen but they can be called up if they are without a ship 14 days or more.

Hopes faded for ending Britain's 26-day-old dock strike by this weekend. This walkout, growing out of a jurisdictional dispute between two unions, involves 20,000 stevedores in ex ports. They have idled more than 170 ships.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 20 a bale higher to 75 cents lower today.

Switching operations from nearby July to later deliveries, anticipating first notice day next Friday, dominated trading.

Prices moved in a narrow range, with rallying tendencies held in check by profit taking and hedging.

Distant 1956 crop deliveries showed early firmness, but turned weak on later light selling orders which found demand small.

The Census Bureau reported May cotton consumption totaled 703,240 running bales—better than trade expectations of 685,000 bales. Consumption for the first 10 months of the season, August-May, totaled 7,419,393 bales, 163,313 bales higher than a year earlier.

The F.O.A. announced cotton authorizations of $3,420,000 to Italy and $8,488,000 to Spain. The agency said these funds do not represent new money for cotton, but are unexpended balances of old crop authorizations reprogrammed to permit new crop purchases.

There was additional short covering in July on the opening, imparting strength to the entire market. Volume for the remainder of the session was rather light and prices tended easier to close about unchanged from yesterday.

Reports that exports for the present season will probably not total more than 3½ million bales as contrasted with original expectations of 4½ million bales was a disturbing factor. August 1 carryover will probably be in excess of 11 million bales. FOA allocated $3,420,000 to Italy, contracting period June 21 to November 30; also $8,488,000 to Spain, contracting period June 2 to October 31. Final delivery on both was August 1 to December 31. These funds do not represent new money for cotton but are unexpended balance of old crop authorization reprogrammed to permit new crop purchases.

A private forecaster predicts temperatures through the main cotton belt will remain below normal for the balance of the month with possible warming tendencies after that. However, general crop progress to date is still reported good.

Japan now estimates she will purchase 175,000 bales from the United States this year under surplus farm purchase agreements.

Clayton bought 15 July and sold ten October, five December and five May. McFadden bought 30 July and five December and sold 25 July, five October and five new October.

DOROTHY DIX

Let Him Make The Moves

Widow Shouldn't Push Casual Friendship

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow of 61, but feel and look like 40. I enjoy good health, still have the rosy color in my cheeks that I brought over from England 40 years ago. My hair is black, my figure slim.

My husband died five years ago, leaving me with one son. The boy is now married. About a month before Christmas a man came into my life. He took me to dinner a few times and we had some very pleasant evenings. However, he has never phoned me or made plans to meet me. The dinner dates were all casual.

I like his company and would welcome further interest from him. He is a widower about my age, with two grown daughters. We often ride home together from work (he lives near me). I know he spends time with his daughters and their families. He's always pleased when we meet accidentally; why does he leave everything to chance?

Mrs. S. B.

ANSWER: I doubt if you can promote a romance in this direction.

HE'S CONTENTED

The man strikes me as a very contented widower, with a devoted family. Whatever he does with his evenings seems to be quite satisfying to him. In addition, he has a very nice friend (you) who fills an occasional lonely spot by being a good dinner companion. For the time being, I advise you to be grateful for whatever friendship he offers. Don't make an effort to push things.

You've known him very casually for just a few months. Perhaps when he finds himself looking for you in vain, or expecting you to board the homeward train, he may get ideas. Until he does, however, I think the best thing to do is wait. Make a wrong move now and you'll scare him away for good.

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I met a boy in the Air Force. When the question of age arose, I said I was 17 (I am actually 15). He asked me on a few dates and I have grown to like him very much. Now they are having a big dance at his base and I'm sure he'll ask me. Should I confess my fib? Evelyn ANSWER: Since it's quite obvious that this deception is weighing on your conscience, I think you had better confess it.

DEAR MISS DIX: I belong to a church group that is quite active. Recently we were to have our pictures taken as a unit, but since my mother was ill that day I telephoned to say I couldn't go. I expected the picture-taking would be postponed and was therefore considerably surprised when the picture appeared—without me. I feel it was a deliberate slap. Mona D.

ANSWER: And I am quite sure it wasn't! Professional photographers must be engaged for these pictures and it was undoubtedly too late to cancel the appointment. Furthermore, there was no guarantee that someone else wouldn't be out of the next picture. Bind your wounds and see this from a sensible angle. Folks don't go out of their way to hurt others.

Write DOROTHY DIX for free leaflet D-40, "Summer Romance." In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

Nuptial Parties Highlight Social Week In Winnsboro

Among the many pre-nuptial parties high-lighting the engagement days of Miss June Shelton of Winnsboro was the Coffee Hour in her honor in the home of Mrs. Charles L. Moore, Jr. Several high school and college friends, together with her mother, Mrs. C. A. Shilton and Mrs. Joe Dante, were guests.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Hollis T. Rogers, with its beautiful gardens was the scene of a lovely pre-nuptial coffee hour, honoring Miss Shelton.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames B. S. Landis, Jr., Edgar Lowry, D. K. Mayer, Hollis Rogers and John Snyder.

The guests were welcomed by Judy Durr and Mary Kathryne McCain who directed them to the screened porch where they were greeted by the hostesses and the honoree.

The serving table was centered with an arrangement of yellow carnations and greenery in a crystal bowl surrounded by figurines of a bride dressed in white tulle and her attendants dressed in yellow.

The coffee was poured by Miss Jean Lowentritt and serving were Mrs. Tommy Tucker and Mrs. W. E. Cooper, Jr.

The bride's book, on a table decorated with an arrangement of white gladioli and caladium leaves, was presided over by Mrs. Huey Stein.

Following the rehearsal of the Dante - Shelton wedding, the members of the wedding party and several out-of-town guests were honored with a dinner dance at the V.F.W. Hall in Winnsboro, given by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dante.

The lovely new gathering place lent itself perfectly to the beautiful floral arrangements placed on the tables set for the bridal party and guests. The bride's table was marked with a creamy satin banquet cloth centered by a crystal epergne containing yellow and white asters. Unique place cards marked the places of the honored guests and the bride and groom. Following dinner, dancing was enjoyed.

The bride and groom - elect selected this time to present their attendants with gifts.

Among those attending besides the wedding party and the hosts were Dr. and Mrs. F. K. Hirsch, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kern, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wilenzick, Raymond Wilenzick of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dante, Charles Dante, Miss Julianne Dante and Miss Barbara Hirschberg of Dumas, Ark., Miss Naomi Roby, Miss Shirley Levine of L.S.U., Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn Dante of Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. Moise Bloch of New Orleans, Mrs. Marie Michal and Jerry Baber of Oklahoma City, Miss Florence Lucille Pierce of Indianapolis, the following fraternity brothers of Morris and Jules Dante - Miles Mitchum, John Huber, and David Love of Lake Charles, Melvin Safer, Bill Emich, Shelly Beythok, Alvin Lincore, Sidney Dreyfus, Jerry Belisle, Jimmy Levy and Billy Levine, all of L.S.U., Mr. and Mrs. C. Why Grow Old?

In The Summer—Simmer Down And Take It Easy

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Some folks are heated up all the time for one reason or another, come winter or summer. In some instances this is evidence of good circulation or great enthusiasm but I am not thinking of those folks today.

I am thinking of those who always go about with a chip on their shoulder, those who are always trying to change the world or those they know but never themselves. I am thinking of those who live in a constant state of apprehension, those who have somehow, in the strain of daily living, lost their sense of humor and the calm which comes from faith in life and people and even in themselves!

This is a sad state of affairs in any season, but it is especially hard on you and those you know in hot weather.

Hot weather alone is irritating to most people. Tempers are nearer the surface and physical discomfort can make you act unlike your usual self. Worries and fretting plus physical discomfort, can brew most unhappy situations.

So, take it a little easy emotionally as well as physically this summer. It is good sense to take a lesson from those who live in the tropics, do your shopping or errands early in the morning before the temperature rises. Then draw the blinds and stay at home during the hottest hours. Take a siesta! We really can learn from the tropics because there hot weather is the rule rather than the exception. They have learned if you react poorly to hot weather do your exercising and indulge in sports in the early morning or late afternoon. They have learned how to live with it graciously and comfortably.

(Released by The Register and Tribune Syndicate, 1955)

Worries and physical discomfort can brew unhappy situations. Instead, brew yourself a cool summer drink and relax.

Graham Methods Likened To Those Of Nazi Goebbels

ZURICH, Switzerland, June 17—UP— A Swiss newspaper Friday likened Billy Graham's approach to religion to Nazi propagandist Joseph Goebbels' "art of turning human beings into masses."

Graham's sponsors immediately defended his methods as the answer to "a genuine need" in Switzerland.

Several newspaper have questioned Graham's approach to religion. The strongest comment came from the "Nationalzeitung" of Basel, the Rhine River port facing Germany.

"The art of turning human beings into masses, developed in the political field by Goebbels, is now being continued in the religious field under American drapery," it said.

Dr. Ernest Reppmann, a member of the sponsoring "Evangelical Alliance" committee of Zurich said "there is no proper explanation for the interest shown all over Switzerland in this prayer meeting."

"It cannot be due to sensationalism," Reppmann said. "We can only assume that it is the result of a genuine need for such a prayer meeting in our country."

Louisiana Gives Nation Statue Of Judge White

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Louisiana presented to the nation today a statue of one of its illustrious native sons, the late Edward Douglass White, former chief justice of the United States.

The bronze statue, designed by Arthur Morgan of Shreveport, was unveiled and dedicated at services in the capitol rotunda where it will be on display for 30 days before being moved to a permanent location elsewhere in the capitol.

Chief Justice Earl G. Warren, principal speaker at the ceremonies, told a gathering of about 200 that White was a Confederate soldier as a young man but was a man of peace.

As a court justice, Warren declared, White "viewed the constitution as an expanding document, flexible enough to respond to conditions not envisaged by the founding fathers."

"Rather than a 'barrier to progress' it was to him the 'broad highway through which alone true progress may be made.'"

While White was a warrior for the South "he realized that the survival and growth of a strong America required a national government with powers adequate to meet foreign and domestic problems effectively," Warren said.

White was named to the Supreme Court in 1894 and served as chief justice from 1910 until his death in 1921.

Gov. Kennon of Louisiana, in presenting the statue, said it was fitting that a member of the judiciary should be selected for the honor of having a statue in the capitol since the judiciary represented the fundamental belief that this "is a government of laws and not of men."

Sen. Green (D—RI), vice chairman of the joint committee on the library, accepted the statue for Congress. "We are happy," he said, "to have the likeness of another great American—it takes its place alongside the statue of another great Louisianan, the late Sen. Huey P. Long."

A statue of Long, former governor and senator, is Louisiana's other statue in the capitol. Each state is allowed two. The Long statue is in a hall not far from where the White statue temporarily is placed.

Sen. Ellender (D) said that White "tried his best to be a progressive without being radical, conservative and yet not reactionary."

Sen. Long, a son of the late Huey P. Long, said White "was one of those visionaries who saw the need of a truly united people and a strong federal government."

After Morgan formally presented the statue to Kennon, the bronze was unveiled by Mrs. Edwin E. Willis, wife of Rep. Willis (D—La). Music was furnished by the U. S. Marine Band.

COSTLY PEACHES

ATLANTA, June 17—UP—The first peaches of the season went on sale Friday in George, the "Peach State." But the peaches came from California and were priced at $35 a bushel or roughly 25 cents a peach. A spring freeze wiped out the Georgia and southern crop.

Thinks Military Should Decide On News Releases

WASHINGTON, June 17 —UP— The Defense Department's new expert on publicity policies believes military officials should decide whether information is "useful" or "interesting" before giving it to reporters.

R. Karl Honoman, deputy assistant defense secretary in charge of public affairs, said the test of security is not enough. He said too many officials are wasting their time answering unnecessary questions.

Honoman recently was imported from the Commerce Department to help put into effect Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's directive that all news released by the military services must be "constructive."

He laid down the new yardstick for judging the usefulness of information to J. Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald.

Wiggins, chairman of the information committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, had raised a question about Wilson's information directive.

Asked about Honoman's statement, Wiggins said the defense official's view — if adopted generally — could give the government power to deny all information to the public.

The editor told a reporter it is up to the people, not the government, to decide what is "useful" or "interesting."

"If a citizen is sufficiently interested in some aspect of defense policy to ask about it," Wiggins said, "it seems to me that the government is not the proper agency to decide if the information sought is interesting or useful."

Wiggins also wrote Honoman a letter of reply in which he rapped Wilson's ruling that military news released must be "constructive." He said the Nazis and Fascists set up propaganda machines to make sure any information given out was "constructive" — from their point of view.

Famous Theater Producer, Golden, Expires At 80

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—The last-act curtain fell today on the life of John Golden, the fabulous Broadway producer with the touch that rivaled his name. He died in his sleep at the age of 80.

He was stage-struck from the age of 8. Few men took more from the theater than he did. Even fewer gave as much back. He was the best known philanthropist in show business, where generosity is no rarity.

His first show was "Turn to the Right," in 1916. It was a hit. So were eight of his next 11 shows. At his death he had produced more than 100, and it was his boast that there was no smut in any one of them.

Death came softly to Golden in his 15-room home on a 20-acre estate in Bayside, Queens, on the North Shore of Long Island near the city limits and not far from the Sound.

He had even shared his home. Nine acres of his property were carved into baseball diamonds as a playcenter for children.

"I love children," he explained. "I happen to be the kind of man who loves to hear the screams of children."

Golden never had a child of his own, however. He is survived only by his widow, the former Margaret Hesterich. They were married in 1969.

He had many friends in high places. He often dined with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at Sardi's, the theatrical hangout. He had been a friend of her late husband.

Parents Charged With Slaying 4-Year-Old Girl

SAN ANTONIO, June 17—(UP)—An Air Force sergeant and his Japanese-born wife were arrested Thursday night on a charge they beat her four-year-old daughter to death, it was revealed Friday.

The sergeant, Robert L. Paxton of Shenandoah, Iowa, and his wife, Tsukiko, were indicted Wednesday on the federal charge of "murder with malice aforethought." It was a federal charge since they live at Fort Sam Houston.

The indictment was not made public until they were arrested. Mrs. Paxton, who is pregnant, and her husband were jailed in $25,000 bond. They have another child, Evelyn, 19 months old, who is blind and is being taken care of by the Red Cross.

The daughter who died, Brenda Kay Paxton, was Mrs. Paxton's daughter by a former marriage. She was dead on arrival at an Army hospital May 22 from a brain hemorrhage. She also had multiple bruises.

The couple told police at that time that Brenda Kay fell from a high chair.

The couple was married in Kobe, Japan, on Christmas Eve, 1951. He was stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., before they came to San Antonio about six weeks before Brenda Kay died.

Mock Attack Ends With Reserve Appeal By Ike

EMERGENCY U.S. NEWS CENTER, June 17—(UP)—President Eisenhower ended the nation's biggest civil defense test Friday with a powerful new appeal for his stalled military reserve bill. He said the measure is essential to the safety of 165 million Americans.

The President spoke on a "closed circuit" radio channel from the secret underground Pentagon where he met with key officials to evaluate the three-day "Operation Alert."

Civil defense leaders estimated the mock attack on 61 U.S. cities Wednesday theoretically killed and injured more than 14 million persons and left another 25 million homeless.

Six per cent of the nation's manufacturing capacity was assumed to have been knocked out. But factories turning out tanks and planes "escaped" with relatively small loss. Four million lives were "saved" by mass evacuations of target cities.

Mr. Eisenhower, whose remarks were recorded and later broadcast to the nation, said every American should devoutly pray "that this kind of disaster never comes to the United States."

But if it comes he said, "one trained reserve battalion in the proper place would be worth five divisions located a thousand miles away."

Referring to an anti-segregation amendment which has stymied the reserve bill in the House, the President said the program must not be blocked by "extraneous matter."

"This is no place to attach social, political or any other kind of legislation," the chief executive said. "This is a matter that is completely non-partisan. It must be done for the security and safety of the United States and its 165 million people."

Even as the President spoke, however, the Senate Armed Services committee postponed indefinitely any move to start the President's reserve bill through the Senate. The hope was that this would force the House to act.

After his final conference in the underground military headquarters, the chief executive motored to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., with Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud.

The Nautilus

Only Atom Sub Finishes Tests Successfully

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 17 (AP)—The world's only atomic powered submarine, the Nautilus, has completed a six-week shakedown period successfully, the Navy reported today. The tests included a 1,400-mile voyage submerged.

The Nautilus, on a cruise to the Caribbean in May, did not surface after leaving here until she reached San Juan, Puerto Rico, the Navy said.

Her log since January, when she moved under atomic power for the first time, shows more than 10,000 miles traveled and 180 dives.

Three officials who have been observing the Nautilus' recent operations are Albert Pratt, assistant secretary of the Navy for personnel and reserve forces; Adm. Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, and Adm. Jeraud Wright, Atlantic Fleet commander in chief.

Local training operations, with brief periods in port, are now in store for the Nautilus, the Navy said. No visits to other ports are scheduled.

She is moored at the dock of the Electric Boat division of General Dynamics Corp., where she was built.

A high percentage of drivers who are involved in frequent accidents have tunnel vision — that is, they are aware of objects only in a narrow arc in their line of vision — says the Better Vision Institute.

Twin Cities Tumble Before Vicksburg Bills, 5 To 3

Each Club Gets Only 8 Hits In Errorless Tilt

The Vicksburg Hill Billies measured the Twin Cities Sports, 5 to 3, here last night in the opener of a two-game series that saw Jim Mayfield knock in three runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly that spoiled the night for Bob Shipman, Sports righthander, who gave up three runs in the first and two in the final inning when the Bills did all their damage. They meet here again tonight in the annual "Legion Night" contest.

The score was tied going into the final inning on the strength of three straight Twin Cities singles in the second inning, Ed Rippili's homer in the fourth, and a Ray Mantle single and Bob Hantak triple in the sixth. But the Sports couldn't muster any more power, and the Bills snatched the game away in the ninth.

It was the first errorless game of the season here.

Shipman started wobbly, spotting the Bills three runs in the first inning when Jim Mayfield socked a 360 - foot homer over the left field fence behind a base on balls to Bob Adams, and a single by Wally Widholm scored Dave Dickerson who had tripled.

Successive singles by Marshall Gilbert, Ed Rippili, and Ray Mantle brought the Sports their first run in the second inning; Rippilli's 350 - foot homer over the left field wall with the bases empty in the fourth; and the Twin Cities tied the score in the sixth when a triple by Bob Hantak scored Ray Mantle who had singled.

The Hantak triple was disputed vigrously by Vicksburg on the claim he was thrown out trying to stretch a double. The result was that Widholm, the Bills' catcher, and third baseman Jerry Ringle were chased from the game by umpire Howard Weaver.

Vicksburg broke the tie in the ninth. B. Keller popped a Texas Leaguer behind second that went for a double as the keystone infielders had raced back in a desperate bid for the catch. A wild pitch moved Keller to third. Bill Carr's sacrifice fly scored him. Fred "Pappy" Williams singled for Jim Williams, and Bob Cothran walked to finish Shipman. Bob Adams greeted Madden with a single to lead the bases. Mayfield's sacrifice fly scored F. Williams. Andy Keller popped out.

Patton, Harrison Reach Southern Amateur Finals

ENVILLE, N. C., June 17 (AP)—Walker Capper Billy Joe Patton, Morganton, N. C., and unheralded Charles Harrison, Atlanta, gained the finals of the Southern Golf Association amateur tournament today. Patton after tough matches and Harrison after a pair of relatively easy tests.

The two will meet for the title over 36 holes tomorrow starting at 8 a.m., and 1 p.m. (CST).

Patton had to hustle all the way for a 2 and 1 victory over Curtis Person, Memphis, Tenn., in his morning quarter - final test, and in the afternoon he took a 4 and 3 struggle from 21-year-old Mason Rudolph, Clarksville, Tenn.

Harrison, a former Georgia Tech player whose chief claim to fame has been three successive Atlanta City championships, whipped fellow Georgian Buck Sanders, Cedartown, 4 and 3. He then put out Ed Gravely, Rocky Mount, N. C., 5 and 2.

Bolt, Ward Tied For Lead At Open's Halfway Mark

By WILL GRIMSLEY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17 (AP)—Amateur Harvie Ward of San Francisco shot an even par 70 to tie fading front - runner Tommy Bolt for the lead at the halfway point of the National Open golf championship today with a 36-hole score of 144. Bolt blew to a 77 after taking a first round 67.

The two leaders had a one - stroke edge over two past champions and a pair of dark horses of the blackest hue.

Tied at 145 were the four - time champion Ben Hogan, still the most feared man in the tournament; Julius Boros, 1952 open champion; Walker Inman Jr. of Augusta, Ga., and Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa.

Unman is a 25-year - old former Air Force officer making his first professional tour, and Fleck is a 32-year-old home professional who limits his competition primarily to the winter tour.

Bolt, his temper and his golf game breaking their bonds after an opening round 67, rocketed to a scattershot 77 after blowing himself to a double bogey six on the final hole.

Fuming mad, he barked at newspaper reporters who sought to interview him and stalked from the course.

Patty Berg Holds Five-Plus Margin Over Miss Bauer

GROSSINGER, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—Defending champion Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., held onto her lead in the Round Robin Golf Tournament here today, but she was faced with a serious treat by 21 - year - old Malene Bauer, Sarasota, Fla., who created a new course record.

Miss Berg could do no better than a 77 for a score of plus 40. Miss Bauer fired a 33-37—70 to pull 35. In the process, she shattered her sister, Alice's, course record of 71.

Marlene required 27 putts in her fine round. She had eight one-putt greens and was superlative with her short game.

Betty Jameson, of San Antonio, Tex., had a 31-40—71, which would have equalled the course record had not Miss Bauer broke it. She is in sixth place with a plus 20. Her outgoing nine was the second best ever in women's golf tournament play. Louise Suggs holds the record of 30.

Bums Drub Cards, 12-1; Snider, Newcombe Star

ST. LOUIS, June 17 (AP)—Don Newcombe breezed to his 11th victory tonight as Brooklyn Dodger teammates pounded out 16 hits, including Duke Snider's 21st and 22nd homers and big Newk's fifth, to drub the St. Louis Cardinals, 12-1.

Newcombe, beaten only once this season, gave up a run in the second of Ken Boyer's 10th homer, but held St. Louis scoreless thereafter as the Dodgers mauled loser Gordon Jones and replacement Brooks Lawrence and Mel Wright. The Cards collected only seven hits.

For the Dodgers, breaking a two-game losing streak and scoring their first 1955 victory at Busch Stadium in three tries, Roy Campanella delivered four singles, but Snider and Newcombe swung the heaviest bats.

his second victory to even his record.

Detroit scored first in the fifth on a double by Harvey Kuehn, who got three hits in six at bats during the outing with a pulled leg muscle, and singles by Al Kaline and Jim Delsing. Kaline beat out a fielding grounder to shortstop to hit safely in 52 of Detroit's 57 games.

After Causey's homer in the seventh inning into the right field seats Fred Hatfield's perfect squeeze bunt in the next inning broke the tie. It scored Bill Tuttle, who drew only the second walk from Shallock. Frank House's third single sent Tuttle to third and Shallock relieved Johnson to be met by Hatfield's bunt.

Pinch hitting for Wilfee Shallock, Kuehn scored the score again with his first homer of the season with two out in Baltimore's next time at bat.

Tiger Jones Wins By 6th Round TKO Of Ernie Durando

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—Ralph (Tiger) Jones, the persistent Yonkers, N. Y., middleweight, handled Ernie Durando with the greatest of ease tonight, opening wide cuts around his left eye to win a technical knockout at the end of the sixth round at Madison Square Garden. Jones weighed 155½, Durando 161.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello of the New York State Athletic Commission advised referee Al Berl to stop the uneven contest after examining Durando in his corner after the sixth. Under New York rules, it went as a sixth round because the bell had not rung for the seventh.

Referee Berl acted as Judge for Nardiello had scored it 51 going Durando, the third round. Judge Harold Barnes had it 60-50 for [illegible].

Jackson Joining Dry On Block's Coaching Staff

JONESVILLE, June 17 (Special)—Odis Jackson, an assistant coach for three years at Wisner, has been named to fill a similar vacancy at Block High School here.

Jackson will serve as head basketball coach at Block and will assist Athletic Director and Head Coach Ronald Dry in football. Dry was recently elevated to the head coaching post when H. H. (Hank) Stovall resigned.

Jackson, a star cage player at Louisiana College, graduated from Louisiana Tech in 1952 after returning from service with the armed forces.

A native of Epps, Jackson played prep basketball at Oak Grove High School. Commenting upon the addition of Jackson to the Block staff, Superintendent A. L. Brooks said, "Jackson is a successful coach, highly respected by opposing coaches and we feel fortunate in obtaining his services."

Meanwhile coaches Dry and Jackson have begun preparation for the opening of grid practice sessions in August. They will mostly be working with ninth and tenth graders, boys who already have a year of competition under their belts in Block's rebuilding program.

Dry disclosed that the Block team has two open dates which he would like to fill, September 23 and October 21. Any team desiring a game on either of those dates may contact Dry in Jonesville.

The Fishing Report

CHENIERE LAKE

Bream fishing has been improving and bass are striking better, but as far as speckled perch are concerned there have been no good reports of any consistent catches.

The fishing prospects in Chenier appear general over the lake but there is a skum over the waters in some sections piling up behind drifts. Some catches are made around these drifts, but the cleaner water seems to be offering the best fishing.

Very good bream fishing was being shown Thursday with takes on catalpa worms, red worms, and crickets.

Bass have been striking better this week with good takes in some areas on artificial lures. Hawaiian and Shimmy Wigglers were taking some nice bass around Parrott's camp.

BIG HORSESHOE And CROSS BAYOU
By Reef Freeman

Bass fishermen and bream anglers are finding mighty good fishing in this Concordia parish fishing area near Monterey, and prospects are that, barring unusual weather changes that mightily affect the fishing, the anglers will be having some mighty good days in the next week or so.

White perch, however, which have been working so good in recent weeks, have slacked off with very few being taken.

Bass are going for artificial lures that operate in shallow and top water.

E. R. Rogers, a Monroe policeman, took home a find string of bream Thursday. The bream still like crickets, catalpas, and earthworms.

The water here is in fine condition but getting better each day.

TAGGED BREAM

Vincent R. Sylvestri, 901 Oak Street, Monroe, caught a tagged bream while fishing in the Ouachita river Thursday. The tag was No. 6092. Such tags have been placed on thousands of game fish in the state by the Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, and reports of the tags should be sent to the commission when in seeking new knowledge of the movements and habits of game fish.

ALABAMA LANDING

Bass and bream have been busy in this area of the Ouachita river in the last few days.

Many bass have been taken on Pico Perch and Hawaiian Wigglers, and the bream are biting exceptionally well on worms or crickets.

Mouths of the several streams entering the river above the landing, and usually reached by outboard motorboats are usually most productive.

Assistant Coach Cut Off At Sicily Island

JONESVILLE, June 17 (Special)—Louis Wiggins, assistant coach at Sicily Island High School for the past two years, has not been recontracted for the 1956-56 school year by the parish school board.

Wiggins, a graduate of Louisiana Tech, served as basketball coach at the Island and was an assistant to head coach Raymond Peace.

The Catahoula parish school board in its June session, voted unanimously against recontracting Wiggins for the next school year.

Hendershot Is On Way To Lions Club Convention

RUSTON, June 17 (Special)—Dr. Paul T. Hendershot and his family left here today for the international convention of Lions International, which will be held next Wednesday through Saturday at Atlantic City, N. J.

Dr. Hendershot is the newly elected governor of district 8-L.

Dr. Hendershot, who has been head of the Louisiana Tech economics department since 1947, explained that he plans to attend a special pre - convention school for district governors. He will automatically become governor of the northern district of Louisiana, which includes 43 clubs with approximately 2,000 members.

Among the new district governor's first official acts will be the installation of all officers of the Monroe Lions Club on July 5.

Dr. Hendershot has been named chairman of the council of district governors. The other four district governors forming the council are F. Lynden Couvillion of Marksville, Jack Hayes of Lafayette, Hugh Cutrer of Bogalusa, and Howard W. Thomas of Metairie.

Dr. Hendershot served the past year as deputy district governor of Region Two, District 8-L. He has held virtually all offices in the Ruston Lions Club, including that of president. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity; Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership organization, and Phi Kappa Phi, scholarship society.

Summer Camp To Have Big Class

RUSTON, June 17 (Special)—L. V. E. Irvine, program director for the sixth annual La. Tech summer camp, said today that more than 200 pupils from 56 communities in four states have already enrolled.

The camp is scheduled to be conducted from July 4 to 16.

Among the subjects to be taught at the camp include choir, band, baton twirling, conducting, instruments, dramatics, radio, out door sketching, and folk dancing. Special classes will also be available to in-service teachers, Irvine said.

11 Contestants To Vie For Miss Richland Parish

RAYVILLE, June 16 —(Special)—Eleven contestants will vie here Saturday night for the title of Miss Richland Parish.

The contest, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held at the Rayville Junior High School auditorium at 7 p.m.

The winner will go to Lake Providence July 14 to compete in the state contest. Miss Louisiana will enter the Atlantic City Pageant in which Miss America of 1955 will be selected.

Contestants in the pageant include the following:

Misses Jo Ann Foster, Patsy Chauncy, Georgia Lee Travis of Delhi; Miss Gladys Sullivan of Start; Misses Aurora James, Bette Faust, Evelyn Jo Rogers, Jan McCarthy, and Jackie Adcock of Rayville; and Misses Jo Ann Houch, and Betty Thrower of Holly Ridge.

Contestants will model bathing suits and evening dresses and will demonstrate their talent before out-of-parish judges. Miss Richland Parish will be crowned by Miss Sarah Batton, Miss Monroe of 1955. Garland Shell of Monroe will act as master of ceremonies.

Contestants will vote among themselves to select "Miss Congeniality." She also will be given an award.

Also slated for the evening's entertainment is the selection of Little Miss Richland Parish, who will be beauty queen among three- to six-year-olds. Some 30 little misses will be on hand to demonstrate their charm.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization, and their wives have planned a parade of decorated floats and automobiles, in which all contestants will participate. The parade is scheduled at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Local stores are offering special values all day Saturday in honor of the festivities.

Tickets are on sale at downtown drug stores. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Final Plans Laid For Conference

NATCHITOCHES, June 17 (Special)—Final plans have been made for a business education conference which opens at Northwestern State College Monday. The conference will bring to the teachers and students the latest ideas in business education.

Millard Collins, educational director for International Business Machines of New York, and Charles Zoubek, author and lecturer on Gregg shorthand, will act as consultants for the conference.

This conference will be open to all graduate, and senior business education students, all teachers and practice teachers of business education in this area.

N. B. Morrison, head of the business department at Northwestern, announced that Collins will be in charge of the conference from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on June 20, and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m on the second day of the meet. Zoubek will then take over for the final day from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Arrested For Keeping Ticket

NEWARK, N. J., June 17 —UP—Ezra Stone, who gained fame as radio's squeaky - voiced Henry Aldrich, was arrested with his wife Friday when he refused to let a railroad conductor punch his ticket because the train was late.

They appeared before magistrate Harry A. Pine who postponed their hearing for one week at their attorney's request and released them in $50 bail.

Stone and his wife were returning from a business trip to New York early Friday morning. The train was 45 minutes late," Stone said, "so I merely told the conductor he could punch my ticket 45 minutes late."

Stone, 37, who owns a dairy farm at Newton, Pa., and is a free-lance radio and television producer added, "the public-be-damned attitude of the Pennsylvania Railroad is victimizing thousands of commuters like myself, and if we protest we get arrested."
